What is Project Alliance?

Project Alliance is a nonprofit risk and prevention training and resource agency made up of the dynamic, on-going partnership between District Attorney Tom Reilly and Middlesex County School Superintendents. Incorporated in 1988 to foster communication on school-related legal issues around violence and substance abuse, today Project Alliance brings together more than forty-five participating school districts to examine the pressing social, economic, and health-related problems that face school communities and place students at risk.

Through Project Alliance, educators, parents, and students regularly engage in collaborative trainings with law enforcement, social services, and community resources. The result of this interaction is continuous attention to creating solution-oriented, community-based approaches to combating youth violence, substance abuse, child abuse, hate crimes, and harassment across Middlesex County.

Our Mission

Project Alliance, through collaboration among the District Attorney, law enforcement, and school superintendents of Middlesex County, Massachusetts, will develop and promote programs to address legal and social issues that create barriers to students' safety, health, and learning.

Our Vision

Project Alliance envisions a partnership that will:

- Advance a prevention focus, particularly in the areas of substance abuse, violence, harassment, and safety
- Create programs that focus on action in individual communities, encouraging each community to bear responsibility for the implementation of ideas and projects
- Maintain a flexible, light organization capable of development and change and responsive to emerging issues
- Be results-oriented, looking for opportunities for long-term impact
- Foster collaborative relationships with federal, state, and community agencies that support our mission

Our Goals

Substance Abuse Prevention

Project Alliance is committed to working toward the elimination of illegal substance use among Middlesex County students by raising awareness of the continued hazards of nicotine, alcohol, and other drugs to youth safety, health, and learning, and by providing training to school communities to assist them in identifying trends of use, effective prevention strategies, and successful rehabilitative services.

Violence Prevention

Project Alliance is committed to reducing youth violence within Middlesex County school communities by raising awareness on health and safety issues and providing training on effective prevention and intervention strategies to foster a climate of safety and peace for all students.

Child Protection

Project Alliance is committed to preventing the incidence of child abuse and neglect by training school personnel to support the healthy development of children, recognize and appropriately respond to the signs and symptoms of abuse, comply with state-mandated reporting statutes, and work in productive collaboration with state and local child protective agencies.

Respect for Diversity

Project Alliance is committed to assisting schools to foster a climate of safety, acceptance, and respect for all members of the school community by providing information and training on multiculturalism and diversity.

Harassment Prevention

Project Alliance is committed to preventing hate crimes and other forms of harassment based on race, gender, religion, ethnic origin, and sexual orientation by assisting school communities in the development of no-tolerance policies, protocols, and education.

Building Linkages Among Education, Law Enforcement, and Social Services

Project Alliance is committed to facilitating the coordination of services for at-risk and adjudicated youth by assisting school communities to forge productive communication and a positive working relationship with the District Attorney's Office, local law enforcement, and state social services.
